

[No. 189.]

At a meeting of the Corporation of Zion Church, held on Tuesday evening, an invitation was given to the Rev. James C. Richmond, to accept the Rectory of the Church.

The first lecture of the course, before the Mechanics' Association, will be delivered this evening, at Aqueduct Hall, by Dr. Solger, of Boston, on the War in the East. He is a Prussian, and is said to be an able man.

NOTHING BUT IRISH.—Dr. Humphrey Gould, of Florida, Mass., gives the following beautiful illustration of the idea of Americans ruling America. Such instances are multiplying too rapidly:

November 28, a gang of desperadoes, from North Adams, sixteen in number, went to the tunnel in Florida, and made a "most atrocious assault upon the Irish laborers there, and cruelly beat and wounded about a dozen of them; two so severely that their lives are despaired of. Their skulls were broken. The apparent design of the assaulting party was to drive away the laborers and take possession of the ground. They went without authority of law, evidently to create a row, make out a case against the poor fellows, and then arrest them as they took a magistrate and deputy sheriff with them, though not as conservators of the public peace, as they were there without authority. The assault was made with dangerous weapons. Fears are entertained that these fellows will go unwhipped of justice, as the sufferers are nothing but Irish.

The Paris correspondent of the Providence Journal says:—

"An article lately appeared in the Moniteur, upon the naval strength and resources of the United States, and showing that although our actual force on the war footing was small, we had the great elements of naval strength in our vast commerce, in the character of our naval architecture and navigation, and in the number of seamen that we could command. The tone of this article was strikingly in contrast with the flippant style of the English papers, and showed how deeply the French government disapproved of the emboldenment which the English press was foolishly encouraging."

The Boston and Worcester Railroad, some 400 in number, were each presented with a Thanksgiving turkey by the company on Wednesday last. At the same time Maynard Barnard, an engineer on the road, was presented by the company with a gold hunting watch valued at $200.—New London Star 10th.

During the heat of the battle of Gettysburg, when the bullets flew as hail-stones, one Bachelew, of Newmarket, was leveling his musket at the enemy, when his lock was carried away by a bullet. Undismayed, he caught up the gun of a comrade just killed by his side, and taking aim, a bullet entered the barrel, and twisted it around like a cork screw. Still undaunted, our hero immediately knelt down, unscrewed the whole lock from the twisted musket, screwed it on the musket from which the lock had been torn, and hazarded away at the enemy. An exchange reached for this.

Recently, in Detroit, when "Romeo and Juliet" was "in the pit," a scapegrace known as "Romeo" was in the pit. When Juliet exclaimed, "Romeo, where art thou?" (we quote from memory, and may not have the text), the youngster arose and said "Here I am in the pit; I had only a quarter, and couldn't get into the boxes!" Juliet fainted.

AN OCEAN OF BLOOD.—It is said that within a radius of five miles around Sebastopol more blood had been shed, more lives sacrificed, and more misery inflicted within a year, than on any other equal extent of the earth's surface in the same space of time, since the day of Noah's Flood.

An edition of the Bible, recently published at Nashville, is said by the Southern Christian Advocate to be the first that has ever been printed south of the Ohio and Potomac rivers.

CHLOROFORM AND ROBBERY.—The Lion Independent gives a long account of the robbery, by aid of chloroform, of Mrs. David Wright, of Toronto, while on the Hudson Railroad. It was accomplished by a dark-eyed, well-dressed, genteel lady, who, when Mrs. W. complained of a pain in the head, said, "Oh! I have some cologne with me, let me put a little on your temples, it will doubtless relieve you." A porte-manteau, containing considerable money, her ticket, baggage check and breast-pin, were all taken, and the robber, by means of the cloth, also stole the baggage.

THE SONG OF HAWAII. By Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. Boston: Ticknor & Fields. 1856.

The appearance of this volume was anticipated with a great deal of pleasure by the admirers of the author; and we do not think that they have been disappointed. The metre is peculiar, and the introduction of so many Indian names, renders it a decided novelty in literature. But like everything which emanates from the pen of Longfellow, it is beautifully conceived and admirably executed. It has been received with high commendation by the British Press. "Hawaii," by Longfellow, and the Culprit's Fate, by Drake, are the only two strictly American poems. There are many exquisite gems in the volume.

CASTLE; A STORY OF REPUBLICAN EQUALITY. By Sydney A. Story, Jr. Boston: Phillips, Sampson & Co. 1855.

This is a novel of far more than ordinary interest; yes, a real love-novel, and one which will delight all the ladies. The style of the author is perfectly fascinating, and it is one of those books which the reader cannot lay down until the whole has been read.

A VIEW OF THE SCRIPTURE REVELATIONS. respecting good and evil Angels. By Richard Whately, D. D., Archbishop of Dublin. Philadelphia: Lindsay & Blackiston. 1856.

This volume contains eight lectures, under the following heads:—Angels; Reasons for revealing to man the ministrations of holy angels; cessation of sensible angelic visits; Evil angels; Reasons for revealing to man the existence of evil spirits; Demons; Temptations of our Saviour and his followers; Prevailing errors relative to Satanic agency. The lectures are admirably written, and one of the highest interest and importance to every thoughtful being.

MODERN PILGRIMS: showing the improvements in Travel, and the newest methods of reaching the Celestial City. By George Wood, author of "Peter Schlemihl in America." Boston: Phillips, Sampson & Co. 1855.

This is one of the most original and intensely interesting works that we have seen enough of it to convince us that it will have an immense circulation. It is most charmingly written, and we advise everybody to read it carefully.

THE EDDYSTONE LIGHT HOUSE.—The care of this important beacon is committed to four men; two of them take charge of it by turns, and are relieved every six weeks. But as it often happens, especially in stormy weather, that boats cannot touch at the Eddystone for many months, a proper quantity of salt provisions is always laid up in a ship for a long voyage. In high winds such a briny atmosphere surrounds this gloomy solitude from the dashing of the waves, that a man exposed to it could not draw his breath. At these dreadful intervals the two forlorn inhabitants keep close quarters, and are obliged to live in darkness and stench, listening to the howling storm, excluded in every emergency from the least hope of assistance, and without any earthly company but what is administered from the confidence in the strength of the building in which they are immured. Once, on relieving this forlorn guard, one of the men was found dead, his companion choosing rather to shut himself up with a putrefying carcass, than, by throwing it into the sea to incur the suspicion of murder.

In fine weather these wretched beings scramble a little about the rocks when the tide ebbs, and amuse themselves by fishing which is the only employment they can have, except that of trimming their nightly fires. Such total seclusion, and entire exclusion from all the joys and aids of society, can only be endured by great religious philosophy, which we cannot imagine they feel; or by great stupidity, which in pity we must suppose they possess. Yet this wretched communication is so small, we are assured it has some times been a scene of misanthropy. Instead of suffering the recollection of these distresses and dangers in which each is desolated by all but one, to endeavor that one to him, we are informed the humors of each were so soured they preyed both on themselves and on each other. If one sat above the other was commonly found below. Their meals too, were solitary: each, like a brute, growling over his food alone. The enjoyment of this arduous post is twenty pounds a year, and provisions while on duty. The house to live in may be fairly thrown into the bargain. The whole together is perhaps, one of the least eligible places of proferment in Britain.

Mr. Broadhead offered resolution that the Committee on Finance inquire into the expediency of reporting the appropriation bills for the support of Government, or adopting other measure with a view to obtain some speedy act on them. He would ask the Senate to consider the question of right and power the Senate to originate Appropriation bills. His object being to avoid the evils night sessions. Mr. Cass gave notice that he should move, to-morrow to go on the election of a Standing Committee.

The Senate then went into Executive Session.

The House resumed the voting for a Speaker with the following result:

FORTY-THIRD BALLOT.
Banks,	107	Zillicoffer,	4
Richardson,	74	Clisbe,	2
Fuller,	27

Messrs. Campbell, Hildridge, Walker, Haven, Harrison, Lott, Wells, Orr, Marshall, and Williamson each.

One hundred and thirteen necessary to a choice.

FORTY-FIFTH BALLOT.
Richardson,	74	Miller,	28
Banks,	107	Zillicoffer,	4
Orr,	2	Katerting,	11

The third ballot has just taken place and there is no choice.

The Lobby is despairing. Banks had one hundred and six and the tide is turned.

From Dr. Trask we have obtained information in relation to the crop of the entire State. Dr. Trask is the State Geologist, and has just returned from a tour throughout the whole of the northern, central and southern portions of the State. He estimates the consumption of flour at 370,000 barrels a year; and from the investigation he has made, gives us his opinion that the total yield of the present year will not exceed 385,000 barrels of flour, leaving 20,000 or 25,000 barrels for export, or five times that amount in wheat for seed. He also states that there is only one county in the State which this year has produced a full crop, viz: Yolo. The yield in this county averages thirty bushels to the acre. Colusa comes next, producing twenty-eight bushels to the acre. The average yield throughout the State, is estimated by Dr. Trask at seventeen or eighteen bushels. Last year the average was twenty eight or twenty nine bushels. There was fifteen per cent more land sown with wheat this year than last year. The aggregate production is attributable to the inferiority of the yield, smut, rust, grasshoppers &c. In Los Angeles and San Bernardino, the wheat crop proved a total failure, and the people as soon as it was found out, were forced to put in corn, and succeeded in raising a small crop. We give these statements for what they are worth, with the remark that the estimates made by Dr. Trask last year proved singularly accurate, though at the time a great many were found who doubted their correctness.

A man calling himself "Hudson" eloped with a young lady at Rome on the 24th of November, and came to the Suspension, where his name was found on one of hotel registers. "Hudson" is an assumed name—his real name is William Histed. He is a man about 30 years of age, about 5 feet 7 or 8 inches high, stands very straight, dark hair and whiskers, blue eyes, and had on when he left a suit of black, black silk hat, drab overcoat. The girl was about 20 years of age, appears younger, slight form, hair wavy and light auburn, curls, blue eyes and a face slightly freckled; had on when she left a green parrotina dress, Bay State mill shawl, brown victorian, straw bonnet, trimmed with red ribbon striped with black. Both of the parties are pretty good singers, and it supposed that the man will offer his services in some part of the country as a singing teacher, or possibly give concerts. He left a wife with three children in Osageo county, who are dependent on his labor for support. Any person knowing or hearing anything concerning the whereabouts of either of said parties, especially the girl, will confer a great favor on her parents by giving information to this office by mail or otherwise.—Niagara Falls Gazette, 5th.

A Frenchman, being hard up for a dinner, stole a pig. He was caught in the act, taken before a magistrate, and called upon for his defence, when he thus delivered himself;

"Oh, mon Dieu! I steal a pig! No, sir, I never! Ah! you shall see! I tell ze pig, vill he go wiv me? He says, 'Oui, oui!' and zen I take him. Is zat vot you call steal a pig, ven he go vis his own consent?"

"Down Below."—At the breaking up of a dinner party, two of the company fell down stairs; the one tumbled on the first landing, the other rolled to the bottom. It was observed that the first was dead drunk. "Yes, but he is not so far gone as the gentleman below," answered a wag.

"A thing oft said is a joy forever."

So sang the gifted poet Keats. What can be more beautiful than a fine head of hair, that nobility of feature's adornment. Who that is young, but values the luxuriant locks of youth, and would not serve them; and who that is old but would commend Lyon's Kathonol universally acknowledged to be the most valuable and the most delicate perfume for toilet article ever prepared. Be sure to ask for Lyon's Kathonol, to guard against the valueless imitations and counterfeits, which have lately been put up under somewhat similar names. Sold everywhere for only 25 cents per bottle.
